

1. Private files are located at the following location:

<http://www.meyer-mab.com/secure/<your site name>>

where <your site name> is the name that was given to you when you registered. For example, if your site name is site, then your files are located at <http://www.meyer-mab.com/secure/site>.

2. If you enter the location successfully, a login form similar to the following will appear:

The exact appearance of the form will differ depending on your browser (the example form is from Mozilla Firefox), but it will function the same. Enter the username and password given to you at registration and click OK.

3. If your username and password are correct, you will gain access to your private files.

If you have forgotten your site name or login information, visit the following site: <http://www.meyer-mab.com/stocklist.php>. Enter your e-mail address and click Search; if successful, your information will be e-mailed to you.
